TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

The Eagle has its correspondents, both regular and occasional, to "hold it down."

There are issues in which news, that would prove interesting all alike, is crowded out to give room for news of a special character which might have been more materially condensed without detracting from its attractiveness.

The Eagle's special correspondence already is greater than that of any daily in the west—if we except the two morning papers at Kansas City. We greatly value this feature, and propose to hold onto it, but until our wings grow a little stronger condense as much as possible.

See that has formed in the gutter ways near the Douglas Avenue house is being cleared away.

Ong & Osterberg's photo parlors seem to be betwixt these fine days, and they are turning out some fine work in the picture line.

The Tremont house, having just been painted and papered down stairs, the appearance of the place is much changed and greatly improved.

The business agent for Bentfrow's Jolly Pathfinders is in town, and will present his company at the opera house on next Monday night, the 23d inst.

Mr. Kirkwood and his son, Samuel, were off yesterday for Puget Sound, where Mr. K. has made some important investments. They will be absent some time.

Mr. C. B. Turner, of the Pittsburg (Ill.) Old Flag, accompanied by his brother, F. C. Turner, from the same place made us a call yesterday. These gentlemen are out looking Kansas over.

Messrs. Jacobs & Mann, two of Clearwater's popular and handsome young business men were in the city yesterday. While in the city they ordered programmes for an entertainment to be given in Clearwater on the evening of the 26th. A benefit entertainment.

Rev. W. E. Penn, the evangelist, is meeting with great success in bringing souls to Christ. Thirty went forward last evening and fourteen have professed conversion. The First Baptist church, in which his meetings are held, is crowded for every service.—Newtown Republican.

Mrs. N. A. English left last evening for Leavenworth to visit her mother and to make arrangements for sending George and Lida to school in that city. If anybody in the world deserves good children and a pleasant visit at least once a year it is Mr. E., who presides over one of the happiest homes in the city.

Editorial Eagle.—Any so-called society of women that would cast aside two week, ending mortals, you mention in last Sunday's issue, should take from its title the word "Christian." Hold on to that baby, at least until you have tested whether we, the business men of Wichita, will respond with the dollars.

Among the six monster bloodhounds coming with the Boston Double Uncle Tom's Cabin. There is one largest of them. This dog is well trained, and in the rocky pass scene will spring from the rocks (with a nuzzle) on to the slavetrader Loker, a terrible combat ensues between dog and man in which the former becomes the victor.

Mr. ENTOR.—Allow me to speak for myself, and as I believe, for hundreds of your readers, in regard to that "one little baby" that you speak of in Sunday's paper. Your article and advice is good, and it is to be hoped that the ladies of the W. C. T. U. will be governed accordingly. If they will keep that baby I will give them one dollar per month for six months. Let's keep that baby.

The good citizens of Garden Plain, nearly took their place by storm yesterday. The following persons, a number of whom called yesterday, was caught by our reporter: G. H. Smith and wife, R. E. Smith, Mr. Smith, John Keiffer, Jr., W. H. McClure, John Edwards, Jr., M. Derr, W. H. Heisel, Sr., Thos. Cummings, Robt. Cummings, Lon Cummings, J. Mulloy, D. A. Fletcher, Wm. Swafford, D. Lewis, Jr., Charlie Weiss, A. S. Drain, Jr., J. F. Fox, H. Charles.

Mr. Meagher, one among the very first settlers in this valley, left yesterday for Tacoma, Washington territory in company with Mr. Brokaw. The old settlers' association next Friday will miss the presence of Mrs. M. who has never failed of being one of the most animated spirits of the annual reunions of that organization. Her twin sons, Mike and John, the former of whom was marshal of the city and the latter sheriff of the county, played important parts in the history of our town. Both are dead. Mrs. Meagher takes her present long trip to see her daughter, Mrs. John M. Steele who is writing her, said she might bring along the "crib." May also have a safe journey and a pleasant one.

We congratulate the W. C. T. U. on its new champion and defender in the Beacon. The captain is not only with them in sympathy, but is everything that their initials call for except the "woman," and when it comes to his heart he will not be found wanting in that particular. As a Christian, Temperance and Union man he is sound, if his soul does go untouched by our talk about that "one little baby." We congratulate the organization on its organ and defender whom we hope will more than make amends for all the shortcomings, personality and wrongdoings of the Beacon. We should have hesitated in saying much that we have said we knew how deeply we were wounding his sensitive and sympathetic soul.

A GOOD WORD FOR DICK.

Gen. D. W. Wilder, in an editorial letter to the Haworth House, thus talks of the new blood in Kansas affairs:

It is very interesting and a constant source of pride to the old settler who is visiting here to see the new men, the young and strong men who have sprung up in various parts of the state and who are now stalwart Republican workers. They more than fill the place of the veterans who have passed away.

Several of these young men I may speak of hereafter. Perhaps the most prominent of them is Col. Dick Walker, of the Southwest. He is almost a giant in size, but has a well proportioned, handsome and graceful figure, a high level eye, a modest and attractive manner. Among the old and new politicians you hear every day of Dick Walker, of his skill as an organizer, his generosity and his contagious enthusiasm. Recently I met him and marched under his leadership in the annual Orange social. He fully fills the picture that his admirers have painted. Very soon, in our conventions and legislatures, those who came here in the fifties will not see a single face that comes back from the old time. But the new men are better than the old, more full of life and progress, and they will see to it that the republic suffers no detriment.

IRELAND TO-DAY.

W. H. Gellan is agent for a new work bearing the above title, which forcibly and clearly illustrates the causes and aims of Irish agitation. It is a handsomely bound volume of six hundred pages, profusely and elegantly illustrated with thirty-two full page engravings, among which are portraits of the Irish agitators of the past and present, pictures of prominent places in Dublin, Limerick, Cork, Kilmallick, and Blarney and Kilkenny castles, and rural sketches illustrating some of the land league troubles. The book is full of historical facts and is written by one of the ablest writers of the present day. The story of Ireland wrongs from the twelfth century to the present time, forms an absorbing and a terrible arraignment of British rule in Ireland.

Now that the Irish question occupies a foremost place in the minds of the world, and has been the subject of resolutions in the congress of our country, it becomes necessary for every American to be thoroughly conversant with the circumstances out of which the present troubles grow.

The book will be mailed to parties outside of the city on receipt of the price, $2. Address W. H. Gellan.

BUSINESS BOMB.

There was a general rally in business all along the line yesterday.

One more one is reminded of old times by the rush and push and jam of teams and people on our two principal thoroughfares. It was beyond all comparison the liveliest day upon the streets since the holidays. A large number of farmers were in the city with grain, hay and other farm products, all of which sold readily at good prices. Wheat sold at 62 cents, yellow corn at 26 and white at 28. All our merchants report a splendid trade and all wear cheerful countenances.

The New York store and clerk's had such a rush that all their clerks were on the dead jump, the greater part of the day. The throng upon the streets was so dense that it was extremely difficult to elbow one's way through the crowds. Afternoon classes L. Davis' splendid band took their stand on the corner of Main street and Douglas avenue and discoursed sweet music to an admiring throng. The throng was so great that it looked like a circus day. The band is one of the best that ever appeared in this city, and their uniforms are very handsome. Braced up by the genial spring air and the music of the band, the young folks began to jump and frolic about like lambs on a hillside in merry May. Old people, even, shook their best dancing feet upon the sidewalk to the music of the band. Everybody was out.

Old people, with rheumatic pains, came walking forth from alleys and lanes.

A few on crutches, some with canes, and gathering there with joyful heart but trembling hand.

They drank the music of the band.

A MERCANTILE AGENCY.

Mr. Charles H. Beach, of the Kansas City Mercantile Agency of R. G. Dun & Co., arrived in the city yesterday. The company having concluded that it is or will be doing a large business in this city, and that it is in Kansas west of the Missouri river.

Mr. R. comes to look the ground over, and to talk with those most interested. Such an office is of great importance to any wholesale or manufacturing city, of course, and that is one of the principle advantages of the financial center or head of any given section.

Wherever Dun & Co. have a permanent office, that city can be set down as the city of its section, and in so far constitutes a pointer to capitalists, to merchants and manufacturers. That Wichita is the place above all others in Kansas for the establishment of such an office, we have not the least doubt, and we hope Mr. Beach will meet with every encouragement.

ALVIN JOSLIN.

The opera house was packed, last night, from pit to dome to see "Diamond" Davis in Alvin Joslin. The piece is too well known and altogether too popular to require any extended comment, it being enough to say that it was fully equal to its uniform high standard. The audience was kept in an almost constant roar of laughter and from appearances all were highly entertained and pleased. The musical features of the performance were novel and meritorious and received universal praise. "The Musician in the Woods," a descriptive play, by the orchestra, was something new and pleasing; while the special instrumental solo introduced between acts, by members of the orchestra, upon the violin, cello, and piano, and upon the piano, were of an exceptionally fine one and is a strong feature of the company. A moonlight scene on East river, New York, was very pretty and quiet realistic. The cast of characters before the star was average. The costumes were fairly good while one suit worn by Mrs. Joslin was very beautiful. The diamonds were a decided feature of the evening and in the last act their sparkling brilliancy and numbers almost bewildered the audience who were held spell-bound in admiration.

DISTRICT COURT.

In the divorce suit of S. S. Wilber vs. L. S. Wilber, a decree of divorce was granted to the plaintiff, who on this occasion came to the proceedings alone, was the husband.

Rowland H. Thorn was admitted by certificate from the Thirteenth district of Tennessee to the practice of law in this district.

The replica case of Miller vs. Behr, consumed the entire balance of the day and will be given to the jury this morning.

Joy reigns at the residence of Mr. W. W. Dill, on Fourth avenue. The cause of the happiness is the arrival of a bouncing young girl baby, weighing eleven pounds, who is said to be as healthy as a horse.

Mother and baby are doing well.

Local Democrats are getting considerably rattled because the Republicans are making a straight push for an honest city government. The people are about tired of nose-back ruts.

W. L. Couch, the chief boomer has given up all hope of being hanged just now and started for home yesterday.

The pay car on the Santa Fe arrived yesterday and the boys are happy.

One case of duress and disorderly in the police court yesterday.

MARRIED.—By Rev. C. L. Gates, night before last, Mr. Geo. T. Sites to Mary E. Flint, both of Sedgewick county.

The city is rapidly filling up with strangers who are prospecting for business locations and others looking for good farms.

The sidewalk over the sewer in front of the Douglas Avenue hotel has been torn up and is being cleaned out and cut deep enough which will be much needed when the thaw comes.

The Alvin Joslin band attracted a unusually large crowd to their street concert yesterday. They made a fine appearance, their music was excellent and their instruments beautiful.

Col. Dyer has declared time and again that he would not serve in the council against the taxpayers of Col. Dyer's ward, we understand, are determined to press him to represent them again.

Two young girls, apparently of the top rung persuasion, were standing on the corner over the New York store yesterday, one asked the other if they left them blankets hang out all night.

A new sidewalk is being laid on the east side of Lawrence avenue, from Pine street north to the section line. This will make a continuous pavement on this fine street, on the two sides combined, from Douglas avenue to the northern limit.

The remains of W. F. Miller will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon be taken out to his former home in Ottawa for interment. His father, who has been so long bound on route between here and Leadville, has not yet arrived in the city.

The large crowd of carpenters who have been kept idle during the cold winter weather are nearly all at work now finishing the business blocks on our principal streets, preparing for the spring rush of business which is confidently looked for.

The Wichita Guards will meet at their army to-night in full dress. Lieut. Day, of the regular army, will be present; also Lieut. Stevens. All members of the company are requested to be present.

L. W. Owsen, Capt. com'g.

Not one Republican who voted for Martin last fall can be found who was a member of the coming city election; they are all straight-ticks, and the powerful double faced political trimmers who are tearing their shirts in a vain effort to set up a half-breed ticket may as well set their faces.

The draymen and express wagon corps have taken a change of venue to the east end of Douglas avenue. There ought to be a stated place for these express wagons to stand, so that they would be out of the way and where everyone would know just where to go to look for them. This is the case in all cities.

A petition was yesterday presented to the city council for the widening of north Lawrence avenue.
